SIX KILLED IN SECOND RAID ON LONDON

GERMAN AIR RAIDERS CROSS CHANNEL AND INFLECT CASUALTIES IN OUTSKIRTS OF LONDON.

CAUSES LITTLE ALARM

British Airmen Repulse Invaders as People Gather in Parks to Watch the "Free Show."

London, September 26.—Six persons were killed and sixteen injured in the second raid on London in last night's attack. German airplanes although they crossed the coast at different points, were met and continually harried by a large force of British machines. The raiders, however, were not brought down to early reports, but according to early reports, the formation of the German fleet was completely broken up by the British planes, the raiders separating and all except one turning, close pursued. So effective were the measures taken to intercept this lone intruder that he was unable to penetrate beyond the outskirts of London.

While the anti aircraft guns were constantly establishing a barrage fire around the city, diners in hotels and restaurants and audiences in theaters and the opera for the most part were indifferent. Some theaters and moving picture places anticipating the raid have increased their advertisement in the papers. Ample provision was made for the people who went to parks and other open places for a good view of what they called "the open show," while others went about the streets, walking and talking under streetlights and other ground stations shelter. The scenes in these sheltered places were similar to those of Monday night many laughing and other reading newspapers, magazines, and books with which they had provided themselves apparently for a siege. The crowds in some places were having such a good time that they were not at all disturbed by the raiding when all the "air raid" signal was given.

The following official announcement was given out: "The latest information is that the first group of raiders which approached London last night was turned back by gunfire. Not more than two machines were seen to penetrate the defenses. These two machines dropped a number of bombs in the southeast outskirts of London at about 7:45 which damaged several dwelling houses, killing six persons and injuring sixteen."

"The second group of raiders which approached London a half hour later, was driven off. Bombs were dropped in various localities in the southeast of England. Up to the present no damage has been reported."

The morning papers devote more space to description of Monday night's raid than that of last night's all agreeing that the raid was a failure. The few papers containing editorial comment on the raid, repeat the demand for reprisals and call for warning of night raids the same as during the day.

Advance 1,200 Yards.
British headquarters in Belgium and France, Sept. 26.—Along the northern half of the battle line to the east of Ypres, where British troops have advanced the offensive today, the British have advanced at numerous places for a distance of from 1,000 to 1,200 yards. An early report which was somewhat vague, indicated that the British infantry was fighting along a line only a few hundred yards west of Zonnebeke.

The Germans are resisting desperately and along a front of some thousand yards astide the Ypres-Ménin road, a terrific struggle is proceeding. The line of the present battle is between points to the east of St. Julien and south of Gheluvelt. The Germans already have been pushed out of many important positions.

The British appeared to have been extremely successful throughout the northern half of the battle line. The German line is available from the sector of Polygon wood, and the region south of that forest.

ARMY LEAGUE URGES CONSCRIPTION OF BOYS OF 19 AND 20

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Sept. 26.—The Army League, claiming to be backed by the war department and general staff, today advocated immediate amendment of the selective draft law to include youths of 19 and 20.

Among the officers of this organization are Joseph Leiter, president; Lieut. Gen. S. M. B. Young, vice-president; Perry Belmont, Dr. William T. Hornaday, Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, vice-presidents, and Clark Howell, George W. C. Drexel, Thomas Nelson Page, Col. George H. Rains, and Gen. John A. Johnston, members of the executive council.

The league says the general staff thinks these boys are needed and should be conscripted and put in training at once to insure triumphal closing of the European war.

Asserting that youths of this age have played vitally important parts in previous wars, the league quotes Lieut. Gen. S. M. B. Young's statement, gleaned from the records of the war department as to ages of soldiers in the civil war. These are: Boys ten years of age and under, 25; eleven or under, 33; twelve, 225; thirteen, 300; fourteen, 1,523; fifteen, 104,987; sixteen, 231,051; seventeen, 844,091; eighteen, 1,151,488; nineteen, 1,159,786; twenty-two and over, 46,626.

"To keep down the expenses of conducting the war," said the league's statement, "the government should avoid as far as possible the calling of men with dependents. Even at greater cost it is doubtful whether as many men can be secured between the ages of 21 and 21 as will be available between 19 and 21."

"The amendment should be so framed that the men called out under it would not be placed in active military service until they have reached the age of 21."

"The time that has been consumed in putting into effect the existing law should convince anyone who has been watching the progress of our preparation for war that congress should take up this legislation immediately."

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT APPEALS TO CHURCH TO ENDORSE WILSON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Montreal, Sept. 26.—Wm. Howard Taft today asked the general conference of the Unitarian and other Christian churches meeting here to adopt a strong resolution expressing approval of the war policies of President Wilson and congress. The duty of churchmen was to aid their government in the movement necessary to win the war, said Mr. Taft who is president of the conference. To the country's cause was theirs he declared, adding: "A republic, however, free, must preserve itself and in war must pursue the means which in normal times would seem arbitrary."

Mr. Taft said men and women during this war were turning to the churches with greater fervor than in any previous time. The pacifists in the United States do not reflect the national sentiment here, Mr. Taft said in a statement here today. The former president said he wished some of the pacifists to deal with men like Senator La Follette.

"The pacifists and pro-Germans," said Mr. Taft, "are an example of the fact that persons of no importance whatever in time of stress, succeed by virtue of the noise they make of gaining a great deal more attention than they deserve."

"I am in agreement with Mr. Roosevelt in wishing some way could be found to punish men like Senator La Follette in the ground that their actions are traitorous and their speeches seditious."

WOULD OUST LA FOLLETTE IF POSSIBLE

RESOLUTION WILL BE PRESENTED AT CHICAGO MEETING TO NIGHT WITH THIS END IN VIEW.

THOMPSON FOR SENATE

Sentiment is Increasing Rapidly That United States Senate Must Take Some Radical Action on Senator's Speeches.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Sept. 26.—A resolution calling for expulsion of Robert M. La Follette from the United States senate will be presented at the Roosevelt mass meeting here tonight. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Chicago branch of the National Security League.

The issue of alleged anti-American utterances was brought acutely before the public in the west today by two movements to oust Senator La Follette from his seat and by the announced candidacy of Mayor William Hale Thompson for the United States senate.

Approval or disapproval of the stand taken by the two men on the part of the voters will rest with the voters. Thompson in announcing his candidacy declared he would stand on his public and "authorized" utterances on war issues. La Follette has instructed his lieutenants in Wisconsin that future campaigns there should be conducted on the basis of his position regarding America and the war.

Simultaneous movements were under way in Chicago and Minnesota today to bring about the ousting of La Follette from the United States senate. The Minnesota public safety commission has petitioned congress to remove La Follette and resolutions toward the same end will be presented for approval at a huge patriotic meeting to be addressed by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in Chicago tonight.

The Minnesota commission charges La Follette with disloyal and seditious utterances in an address at a recent meeting of the National Non-Partisan League in St. Paul. The commission has referred to the United States district attorney at St. Paul the matter of a possible violation of federal statutes with an recommendation that if a violation of law is found, vigorous prosecution be undertaken.

Colonel Roosevelt, at the meeting here tonight, is expected to say that those who have opposed the government's conduct of the war, Colonel Roosevelt will speak without notes and to speak to the people of the patriotism has been questioned to a blistering denunciation. The resolution demanding the removal of La Follette from the senate has been presented to the committee of the National Security League, which also has led the fight against Mayor Thompson's acts and attitude.

Claybrook, president of the produce exchange, and chairman of the committee, expressed the belief that this action would keep down the price of flour, which he predicted would have gone much higher before January 1. Had there been no food control legislation enacted.

GERMANY ANNOUNCES ITS LATEST TERMS?

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Sept. 26.—Germany has agreed to evacuate Belgium under certain conditions, it is declared in a German official statement, according to a dispatch from Bern today given out by wireless press.

Germany, it is stipulated, must have the right to develop her economic enterprise freely in Belgium, especially in Antwerp.

The proposal was made in a supplementary note to the Vatican replying to a German initiative of Pope Benedict. It was in the form of verbal communication made by Foreign Secretary Kuehlmann, to the papal nuncio at Munich, wherein the foreign secretary stated the condition under which Germany was willing to conclude peace on the basis of evacuation of Belgium.

The verbal note to the papal nuncio said Germany would contribute a share of the compensation to be paid to Belgium for war damages. Belgium would be required, it is said, to give guarantees for any such compensation that which threatened Germany in 1914, would in the future be excluded.

KAHN URGES GERMANS AGAINST THE KAISER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—Urging Americans of German descent to join in our country's righteous struggle against the Kaiser, the German Blood, which, under the evil spell of a dreadful obsession has made itself the enemy of this peace-loving nation, Dr. Kahn banker, of New York, before the Harrisburg chamber of commerce, today pleaded for support of the war policy of the administration at Washington.

"We are in the midst of a crisis," he said, "with profound cunning has instilled into Germany the demagogical obsession of power-worship and world domination." Mr. Kahn traced the method by which, he said, the Teutonic people have been "systematically poisoned by the Prussian ruling caste."

"The world fervently longs for peace. But there can be no peace answering to the true meaning of the word, no peace permitting the nations of the earth, great and small, to govern themselves, until the teaching and the leadership of the apostles of an outlaw creed shall have been discredited and hateful in the light of the German people."

"We to the German-American, so called, who in this sacred war for a cause as high as any for which ever people took up arms does not feel a determination to be in the forefront of the struggle, does not prove a patriotic jealousy, in thought, in action and in speech, to rival and outdo his native-born fellow citizen in devotion and willingness to sacrifice for the country of his choice and adoption and sworn allegiance and of their common affection and pride."

"He who shirks the duty measure of duty and allegiance in that noblest of causes, be he German-American, Irish-American, or any other hyphenated American, be he I. W. W. Socialist, and whatever the appellation, does not deserve to stand among Americans or indeed among free men anywhere."

"He who, secretly or overtly, tries to thwart the German-American people of the nation in this holy war, is a traitor, and a traitor's fate should be his."

The government officials attended neither meeting. Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin opened both meetings and Admiral Von Tirpitz was the principal speaker in each.

Admiral Von Tirpitz pointed out that the submarine warfare is Germany's legal right and that Belgium, the speaker declared, was always England's bridgehead and Germany must do her utmost in preventing England from becoming Belgium's protecting master. Admiral Von Tirpitz was greeted enthusiastically by the audiences. Among the other speakers, was Dr. Von Wolfgang Kapp.

TELLS OF REVIEW BY ENGLISH CROWN

Robert Bentley-Marches in Review Before the King of England With Engineer Troop.

Mrs. S. H. Bentley of Edgerton has received a letter from her son, Robert, who is with the 13th engineers, Co. D, telling of his marching in review with his regiment before the king of England while in London. His was the first troop of American soldiers which paraded in England during the war.

Following is the letter: Have been somewhere in France, Aug. 22, 1917.

Dear Grandma: We have at last arrived at a temporary location and have had a few days to recuperate. We were very tired from the boat and train trips and the marching with our complete equipment.

No active duty has been assigned to us so we are just resting and drilling enough for exercise. There is a bulletin board on our company board explaining what our letters may contain. It reads as follows: "No information is to be given in letters as to our present location, where we came from, arm of service, strength, prospects for service or any other information which might be of help to the enemy."

So you see there is very little we can tell the folks at home until we come back after the Boches have been suppressed. We have seen lots of Boches here (prisoners) and they are treated very well by both the French and English troops. The English soldiers claim the prisoners are treated as well as the help of the little French-English claims for a few meals when we first arrived here and before our cook outfits got to going would like to have fared as well.

The French have a royal welcome and we get along fine with them. They are learning some English while we are trying to learn their language. We are not learning very fast, but the help of the little French-English books we carry in our pockets manage to get along very nicely.

There was anything in the papers about our marching before the king in London. Well, we did and ate a lunch on the palace grounds. The English papers made a great and even historical event of this. It seems we were the first American troops to march in London since something went back. I wanted to get a paper but honestly didn't have the price. Uncle Sam hasn't paid us yet, and nearly everyone is broke here. Money is all wanted and they haven't any they can't pay back, so I must stay broke with the rest. We can't get any information as to when pay day will be, if ever. Trust it will be soon however.

The climate here is very nice. The days are warm and sunny and the nights real cool. We are sleeping in a building, so are not in danger of catching cold.

With a night come and eat some of the vegetables. We haven't had anything at all green since leaving Chicago. The garden must be next door. Well, we will try to come next summer.

Received our first mail last night. There was a letter for me from Nell written the first. Suppose I'll get one from home.

Well, it's getting dark so will get my bed made for the night. We have no lights.

Love to all, ROB.

TABULATE ALL COAL IN COUNTY YARDS

Council of Defense Undertakes Survey for State Food Administrator

—Coal Problem Clearing.

In answer to a request sent out to county councils of defense throughout the entire state by Food Commissioner Magnus Svenson, a survey of Rock county has been undertaken by F. P. Starr, secretary of the county council, to determine the amount of coal now on hand and the amount which will be needed to tide the county over the winter.

This survey does not take into account the amount now in the hands of private owners, but limits itself simply to that found in yards. The report will be classified to show the amounts of hard and soft coal available at this time, and needed to meet the demand.

With careful investigations throughout the entire state, the food administration is learning as closely as possible what coal will be needed this winter, and through its special investigators will see that this amount is supplied the people. There has been little danger of a soft coal famine, as the state has a good supply of this part of the country with all it needs. Considerable anxiety is felt, however, over the hard coal situation. Many dealers throughout the state have no hard coal and see no prospects of securing any.

Auxiliary on this score has been dispelled to a large extent by the success of the state's special coal administrator, Mr. N. Fitzgerald of Milwaukee, who has been able to secure many lake bottoms and announces that a large supply of hard coal from the eastern field is already on the water.

JANESVILLE BOY WRITES FROM STATION IN FRANCE

In a brief letter to relatives in this city, Ben Jaekle, a Janesville boy who is now with the American forces in France, states that the men are all well provided for and that they are treated in fine style by the French people. Sergeant Jaekle has made the acquaintance of a number of French people, and declares that all the "snafes" he held in the highest regard by the natives of the town where they are camped.

The letter is simply dated France, and contains no information as to what the troops are doing, where they are stationed or what the future holds in store for them.

LACY NEW FOOD AGENT IN GREEN COUNTY AREA

Monroe, Sept. 26.—James J. Lacy, born and raised on a farm in LaFayette Co., thoroughly acquainted with farming conditions in southwestern Wisconsin, and a graduate of the College of Agriculture, today took over the food emergency agent work in Green County. Mr. Lacy succeeds L. P. Graber in this position, the latter becoming supervisor of emergency food production activities in several counties in southwestern Wisconsin.

CHIEF OF POLICE GOES TO BELOIT FOR THIEF

Chief of Police P. D. Champion went to Beloit this afternoon to get Thomas Hardyman who has been arrested there on a charge of stealing $30 worth of horse blankets from a stable owner while the Janesville fair was in progress. Hardyman was captured in Beloit with the blankets still in his possession. His case will be tried in the municipal court.

PACKAGES DELIVERED ON BOARD THE TRAIN

Every Package Left at Commercial Club Rooms Was Placed Safely on Board Proper Train.

Owing to the fact that many inquiries have been received as to whether all the packages left at the Commercial club rooms were delivered on the train which carried our Janesville contingent south the following official statement was made: "Every package left at the Commercial club rooms was safely delivered on board the second train which carried Company M of Janesville. It took three days to convey them to the depot and they were received in the presence of Captain Caldwell, officer commanding company. This included the personal packages as well as the general gifts to the company as a whole. Signed, Chairman of arrangement committee."

The question was evidently raised owing to the fact that a second dray load of packages was taken to the third section of the troop train, shortly after the second section pulled out for her south. These packages were designed for Companies B of Ft. Atkinson, D of Milwaukee and C of Whitefish. The packages were taken to this assignment to the depot and still later a third dray load of packages were taken to meet the fourth section, upon which Company A of Janesville traveled and the last section upon which was located Co. L of Beloit.

The statement of the acting chairman of the arrangement committee should be assurance that every package designed for Company M reached its proper owner. Great care was taken not only in selecting and sorting the packages at the Commercial club rooms but in loading them on the trucks and delivering them to the depot. The Madison contingent and some one in all the Milwaukee contingent received special presents sent by express or mail to the Commercial club rooms. The supply of tobacco furnished was adequate to meet the tiresome trip south there is still an order supply to be forwarded later and to the window of Robert H. H. tobacco shop is filling up with magazines and various kinds of "smokes" that will be shipped by freight to arrive the last of next week at Waco, about the time tobacco is scarce.

The window will be cleared the last of the present week and the contents boxed for shipment. Mr. Hockett plans to pay the freight himself. One incident of the packages furnished was the supply of boards cut expressly for playing cards on the train. Just the right size to meet the conditions of playing cards. One man estimated that a hundred cooked fowls found their way onto the train in various packages and if that is so everyone had a leg or a neck of fowl at least once. There were numerous packages placed on for men who had no packages and these Captain Caldwell promised to see delivered to the proper persons.

STARR TO LECTURE ON WORKING OF HUBER LAW

F. P. Starr, secretary of the Rock County Council of Defense will deliver an address before the Wisconsin League of Municipalities which will be in session this week at Racine, on the "Enforcement of the Huber Law." The Huber Law, or as it is popularly known in Janesville, the commitment law, represents one of the greatest steps forward that has been made in criminology and the socialization of our criminal law in some time.

While it is still in its infancy, it has been administered with "gratifying success in many parts of the state." In Rock county has been used with phenomenal results. In this county alone the law has brought over sixteen thousand dollars to the families of the needy and the state treasury, where under the old system the men would have been a complete expense to the state and their time a total loss.

Starr is on the program for Friday the twenty-eighth.

BELOIT SERIES TO START ON SATURDAY

Cardinals and Beloit Will Meet at Beloit Saturday in First Game of Series.

Janesville fans will welcome the news that the expected series between the Beloit Fairies and the Janesville Cardinals has now become a reality. Manager Langdon of the local club, has completed the plans with the Beloit management for the playing of a five game series. The first two games of the series will be played on Saturday and Sunday of this week at the Beloit diamond.

Janesville will have practically a new lineup to meet the Gateway City team. Manager Langdon has been able to secure the services of several league players who have now completed their playing season with their respective teams. In the outfield he will have Miller, Hauger, Eberts and Stewart. Miller played with Grand Rapids this summer, while Hauger now has in his possession a contract with Louisville. Stewart is a former Chicago Cub player and Eberts, as Janesville fans know, is in a class with these men.

La Ross of Peoria, will cover first base; Matthews of Evansville, second base; Aaron of Muskegon, third base; and Keopling of Dayton at shortstop. O'Farrell and Brenson will do the backstopping for the locals while Schoup on the mound. Schoup is the twirler who beat the Fairies a few weeks ago when he was on the slab for the Central League All Stars. Schenborg of Columbus, will also be on hand to pitch one of the games.

DAIRY SHOW WILL URGE CONSERVATION

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 26.—Importance of conserving food products and of consuming perishable commodities that wheat and other non-perishable foods may be sent across the Atlantic to feed our allies and our army will be shown by huge exhibits and will be the big message—the key-note—of the eleventh annual national dairy show which will be held at the state fair grounds here for ten days, beginning Oct. 18.

Robert C. Hoover, the national food administrator, has been asked to be the principal speaker at the show, and will tell what Americans are doing and what they can do by conservation and preparation of food to assist in winning the war. Conservation of food and food resources will be urged in most of the exhibits.

For the first time, the federal department of agriculture will send specialists to the show to lecture on food economy and conservation. One federal exhibit, costing $25,000 to install, will demonstrate the manufacture of products from milk. The exhibits will show how thousands of gallons of skimmed milk, now wasted annually, can be converted into nourishing foods.

Another exhibit will show that the milk from one good cow during the life of that cow is equal in food value to the meat from seventeen beef steers. Other exhibits will show that raising is necessary to soil fertility—that in the east where cattle raising has been abandoned the soil is deteriorating and crops are becoming so poor that agriculture is moving elsewhere.

There will be a domestic science school, with experts in charge, which will give instruction in home food conservation. Other exhibits will show that 18 per cent of the daily food of Americans comes from the dairy cow. Demonstrations, showing the manufacture of milk and the manufacture of butter, ice cream and cheese under perfect sanitary conditions, will be numerous.

Dairy show officers estimate that more than 2,000 registered cowboys, Jerseyans, Guernseys, Ayrshires and Brown Swisses, will be exhibited. Among the cattle will be some cows and bulls valued at $50,000 and $25,000 each.

Hundreds of the fine draft and light utility and society horses are being entered for a horse show, to be held in connection with the dairy show. There will be a night horse fair in the Ohio built especially for the exhibition.

Nearly $40,000 in prizes will be offered cattle and horse exhibitors. Farm machinery exhibits will fill seven of the large buildings at the fair grounds. In addition there will be a tractor, motor truck and automobile display.

Two injured when car is overturned.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Fairfield, Sept. 26.—As Mr. and Mrs. James Orman of Janesville were coming down the hill a couple of miles north of this village Sunday something gave away with the steering gear of their car and the car tipped over pinning them under it. A party of friends in another car came to their aid and extricated them from under the car.

Dr. O'Brien was called and it was found that Mrs. Orman had sustained a fractured rib and was badly bruised. Mr. Orman received some bruises. They were removed to the home of Mr. Chamberlain, and were able to go to their own home Monday.

PAR AWAY.

Our soldier boys from Wisconsin are rapidly leaving us. Either they are being mobilized in training camps for final intensive training or they are being sent to the cantonments where the great national army is to be created for battle against the hosts of the German empire. Then come the volunteers in the different branches of the service, the regular army, the navy, the marines, the hospital units and the signal corps. All are going away from us. Recently we were called upon to aid two young men financially who sought to cross the waters as Red Cross workers. They left us to join one of the many units and letters tell of the narrow escapes they have already undergone. Now comes word they have been transferred from the volunteer service into the regular and have enlisted for the war. On Monday last we said goodbye to four of the former national guard companies recruited adjacent to and in Janesville. Tuesday another contingent went south, today more join them and by the end of the present week there will be no state national guards left in the state, and still we have the draft with us. It is but a few days ago when this first contingent of the national army men marched away to join the colors. A few days more and the next contingent goes, and later will come the second draft, then the third, and perhaps a fourth. This war has but just begun and meanwhile Wisconsin watches its sons march forth to fight with a smiling face and a confident that the red blood of their ancestors who came west and conquered the wilderness flows in their blood.

NATIONAL PROTEST.

Apparently Robert La Follette has some just one thing too far to continue to retain the confidence of the ultra-radicals of this country. His denunciation of the government at a time when Secretary Lansing made an exposure of the telegram of the former German ambassador, asking for funds with which to bribe congress, was unfortunate for him. Following on this the demands from many sources that he either be forced to resign, impeached, or that some extreme steps be taken to eradicate him from the law-making body of the United States government, have come as a shock to his friends here at home. It is not merely a state demand, a cry from a disgruntled few, but it is nation-wide and whether it will have any effect upon the governmental officials is doubtful, still it shows what this state has inflicted upon the country as a whole and that unless something is done to lessen the influence that he exerts in this state, it will have a harmful influence on the nation as a whole through the publicity that has been and will be given his name in the countries we are at war with and also in those of our allies, particularly Russia, now in the midst of the war.

It is unfortunate that La Follette has missed the prominence he has and also that a concerted action in the state capital be exerted to obliterate him from politics now and forever. If the present special session of the legislature was strong enough and its members had backbone enough, they could cut this state right with the nation by starting an action which might lead to his retirement from public life. But alas, it is not, and we must continue to suffer, hoping against hope.

One by one the leading journals that have supported this man through thick and thin have deserted him and in time it is to be hoped the blind public will see they have worshiped a man-made "god" created of common clay and not the heroic creature they have pictured their special defender and slayer of the "Dragon" like St. George of old.

POISON FANGS.

We learn immediately upon the publication of the report that the Germans had infected Rumania with poison gas, that the late "hoof and mouth disease" which devastated Rock county and many other districts of the middle west, was due to the German agents who spread the disease as part of the reign of terror to be inflicted upon the citizens of the United States. We are also told that the "Spanish water" has also been placed where cattle would obtain it most recently, and still we wonder why we are at war and do not hang some of those men at Washington who go about the country preaching the doctrine that this war is all wrong and we should be at peace, and otherwise comforting the enemy.

BRONZE STATUES.

We learn from the special dispatches that this war, if for nothing else, has done much to clear Germany of the hideous bronze statues that have adorned its palaces and parks, by melting them up into munitions of war. The Boston Transcript says: "Germany's experience leads the artistic to hope that the war pressure eventually may compel the United States to melt up some of the bronze statues in the Washington parks." The Transcript is a bit harsh, but still not without reason. Visitors to Washington have wondered at the wonderful creations and wondered if some of them were not Griffins or some prehistoric animal.

TREASON TALK.

The Kansas City Times remarks that "Eye and eye it will not be possible to talk treason anywhere except in the United States senate." This is a bit harsh when we consider that Stone, La Follette and Gronna still continue to wander about the country and expound doctrines to delighted audiences. Time will come when history will place these three in the classification where they belong and like Kipling's poem: "I would not like to be the place."

Dems Nature has proclaimed that it is going to be a cold winter, but ishing an abundant supply of nuts for its members of the animal kingdom. If the average citizen seeking to follow Hoover's food conservation idea give them a chance they will negotiate plans for storage of a good supply. The conservation idea will even affect our furred friends.

The former German terms were a German control over Belgium, return of German colonies, and German protectorate over Turkey, but now entirely new terms are to be announced consisting of German protectorate over Turkey, return of German colonies and German control over Belgium.

Germany wonders if Mr. Gerard did not violate some of the nice points of diplomatic ethics, in causing the official to point out such violations after calling the Belgium treaty a "scrap of paper."

This idea of passing an eleven million dollar appropriation without making provision for paying the bed of a single southern creek, takes all the pleasure out of the national defense idea.

Now that the fairs are drawing to a close the difference between the Janesville fair and some of its competitors is so apparent that one wonders how others manage to exist.

Just Folks

(By Edgar A. Guest.)

Our dreams are on the highest hills,
 Our fairs lie with the stars.
 Our souls must sing, as yellow birds,
 Despite their prison bars;
 The dust of life is in our eyes, yet
 The beauty and the splendor of the Goals that are to be.

Though faint and weak we keep the Faith that some day we'll be strong.

And some day in the distant years
 The right shall conquer wrong;
 And hate and hurt shall pass away
 And happiness shall reign.
 Life's weary travelers shall rest and never tire again.

For what we are is naught compared to what we are to be,
 For us the future lives to live and fairer scenes to see.

The soul shall wear a finer clay than this in which it's dressed
 And all its stains be washed away and all its splendor blest.

And we shall sup with friends we love, and we shall find our youth.

No cloud of doubt will hide from us the shining light of truth.
 Our dreams are high among the stars.
 When all life's storms are braved.

We'll stand upon the hills of God the joys we long have craved.

BEAT OBSTRUCTIONISTS OF EAU CLAIRE AUDITORIUM

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 26.—With a favorable ruling by Judge Heill of Neillsville in the mandamus proceedings, a majority of the city auditors forced here to compel a new special election and vote on the question of whether or not to build the $35,000 municipal auditorium authorized previously by a vote of the city electors, the city is believed a winner in the matter and it is believed no further steps will now be taken by the obstructionists. The judge overruled a demurrer filed by the anti-auditorium crowd to the city's return to the mandamus petition. Either an appeal can be taken or an answer can be made to the city's return, but no argument has been made of the intentions of those opposing the building.

FORMER RESIDENT GIVES PLAIN TALK TO DRAFTED MEN

Louis French, Formerly Connected
 With the Gazette Editorial Forces
 Made Striking Address.

At a meeting given in honor of the "draftees" of Virginia, Minnesota, Louis C. French, formerly connected with the editorial force of the Gazette, now editor of the Daily Virginian, of that city, gave a most stirring and patriotic address to the "draftees" and their families. His address should be delivered at every gathering of drafted men and read by every man subject to the call to the colors that it is reprinted. Mr. French speaks as a drafted man, but he speaks as a man who is not subject to the call.

I have been asked to speak for the drafted men, as a drafted man. I say drafted, for to me there is no necessity for any other expression or term for the draft means to "call forth." There should be no hypocrisy. We are drafted men, selected from the millions to be citizens of the nation.

I never expected to be in this draft. When this government decided upon universal military training, through the medium of the draft, there was recruiting propaganda against the drafted man and I hoped to go as a volunteer. But as my turn came, and my name was in the draft, I can frankly and honestly say that I am glad. I place more glory upon the head and shoulders of the drafted man who answers the call when the government says "I want you" than I do upon the volunteer seeking to escape the bell of artillery fire in service behind the firing line. To me, the man who goes where he is sent, and goes willingly, whether he is a star or a common soldier, is a hero. I do not think that thin Russian line, or whether to become a part of that vast deadlocked western field of battle, is worth more to his government than those who are drafted into the service.

We have no apologies to make. Our future is before us. Through Charles Edward Russell, Dr. Press, a democrat and other speakers, we have heard the call of Democracy. To most of us, those early versions of the war were more or less Utopian. Before we could not understand the cause, the reasons for fighting. The reasons were not on the surface. At first the international fighting against monarchy, autocracy or organized murdering of rights was a theory, vague and in the distance. It did not appear real—not as a fact. But the cloud has been removed. We know that we are going to fight for the greatest of all causes—human rights. It is not Utopian but reality and fact.

History stands before us. American military history to make or break is our next step.

The American soldier has never failed. He froze at Valley Forge and starved with the "Swamp Fox."

Down to modern wars, that American soldier fought it out with Grant with Sherman and with Lee without flinching. Think of General Pickett at Gettysburg, his charge—his American charge if you please—without flinching.

And during the Spanish-American war came down the slogan that "all Hell can't stop an American soldier." That record of an American soldier is before you and me as drafted men. He has never failed. It is you and I who will say whether he will fail in this great crisis.

I cannot conceive of a man who wants to go to war. I do not believe that human construction is such that man wants to kill, to ravage, to maim and to render destruction. There is however the duty call. We know it is just and the shades of a never-beaten soldier confronts us. He never failed. War cannot be robbed of its terrors. The very terrors do not halt the steps of any true American. Pickett never faltered when he rushed across that field with the Union soldiers ripping gaps in the flower of the south. Stonewall's Vermonters never faltered when they swung into action as the rebels stormed over the union trenches. It is the spirit of Pickett, rebel that he was, the memory of Nathan Hale, that robe war of its shuddering horror. We cannot fail them.

We have to go to Europe, to bleeding France, shoving back that barbaric horde of merciless Huns. We know it is going to be a fight to the last ditch. We may go to the eastern front as evidence of America's readiness to aid Russia.

Wherever we go whether to France, Russia or even doing less conspicuous duty in these United States, our duty is American.

We are going to use ore from Mesaba's mighty pits for crushing the common enemies. We know that it is good ore and going to a good advantage. God hope that some from Mesaba Mountain lights on the Kaiser's head early in the game. And that some from the Alpen peaks strike the crown prince, and a metalized chunk from the Lincoln takes the cynical grin off Von Hindenberg.

As drafted men we have one voice and that is answering the call of duty. However we, as drafted men, demand one thing. We are going into the melting pot at Camp Dodge and coming out, we hope, American soldiers. As drafted men we demand that all should take the same chances. Let not the alien who came here for American protection, and escaping armed service, take our places in the lines of endeavor, be a slacker. America gives him her all and he should take the same chances that we will and are anxious to take.

Whether we be "Sammys" or Teddies or plain Yanks we are Americans. As Americans we are going to answer the call. Before us stands the unsurpassed and stainless record of the American soldier. God grant that we may do justice to that name and flag.

Cumming hills before we come to them is what makes us tired.

LIBERTY BONDS NOT OUT FOR SOME TIME

Delivery of Engraved Bonds to Local Subscribers to be Delayed For Some Weeks.

Delivery of the engraved liberty bonds in this city will not be made for several weeks, according to the local banks, though word has been received from the Chicago Federal Reserve bank that the first issue of the bonds will be made today.

According to A. E. Bingham, cashier of the Bower City bank, William Bladon, vice president of the Merchants & Savings Bank, and C. S. Jackson, president of the Rock County National bank, they have received no notice so far from the treasury department, but shortly expect to receive a small consignment. William McCue, assistant cashier of the First National bank, is of the opinion that very few bonds will be exchanged for the certificates most of the subscribers will hold for the coming issue of four per cent bonds.

So great has been the task of engraving and printing bonds, together with the necessary detail work, that it has been practically impossible for the engraving and printing depart-

RED CROSS BRANCH AT EVANSVILLE TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Evansville, Sept. 26.—At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the local Red Cross organization, plans were formulated for a Red Cross drive in and about Evansville. This drive will be for donations for Red Cross work here. Since the formation of the chapter here, nothing has been done for the raising of money since the National Red Cross week in June. We have an enrollment of something like 1200 members. 365 are fully paid up. One half of this $365 was paid to the National Red Cross Society being its share of the proceeds. Since that time, material has been purchased for the making of garments and supplies that have required a huge box for shipment. Now within the past month, large purchases of yarn have been made for the knitting of scarfs, helmets, sweaters, etc. on Friday, Oct. 5, an automobile drive in and about the city in the country, whose territory is within the jurisdiction of the Evansville branch for voluntary donations to the society is planned. It is the society's plan that all donations are the exclusive property of the society to whom the donations are made, the government receiving no share of that money.

We know as a nation that our troops are being trained to be sent to France, to enter upon active warfare there. It behooves every Red Cross branch in our country then to be ready, Oct. 5, the society's plan an entertainment here in the city. Those plans are not fully under way, as yet, however, and will be announced later.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Sidney Drew.

First of the famous Drew-Barry more family to enter the photo play field, was Sidney Drew, a brother of the present John Drew, and son of Mr. John Drew, the actor.

Sidney's early career began in New York in 1884, and his education was acquired in the preparatory schools and the University of Pennsylvania. In 1887, he was on the stage, and he had the other members of his family, and gave him an introduction to a career which since never has been interrupted in his career.

For a long time, Drew was associated with the Frohman management. His trend was comedy, and as an actor, he is held by many far superior to his more famous brother, George Cameron, otherwise Mrs. Sidney Drew, remained associated with her husband until her death several years ago. S. Rankin Drew is the son of the actor.

For many years Sidney turned his attention to the vaudeville field, and the sketches which he produced in those days are remembered for their brilliancy and humor. The majority of them were written by himself and his wife, who assumed Cameron as a pen-name.

"Billy," a vaudeville sketch, proved so successful that it was amplified into a farce. This was Drew's last starring appearance on the legitimate stage. Mrs. Drew died shortly after the conclusion of the run of the offering, and in August 1913, Sidney Drew became a member of the Vitaphone forces. Some of the first two-reel comedies ever filmed were made by himself in conjunction with Ralph Ince, who incidentally proved that he, too, was a screen comedian.

Associated with Drew in many of these efforts was Lucille McVey, who entered the Drew regime in 1916. She had no stage experience and began in minor roles. Her ability was quickly recognized, and she was made the leading woman of the company.

THE PATRIOT.

"I congratulate you," said the examining sergeant. You have passed the physical tests 100 per cent. perfect. I particularly admire your chest expansion of thirteen inches, the record thus far. You have no idea of claiming exemption, I trust?"

"Oh, dear, yes," replied Mercury Flinn. "I have relatives depending on me."

"Near relatives?" inquired the sergeant.

"Oh, dear, yes. My second cousin would feel terribly cut up if she didn't get her box of bon-bons every week, and as for my step-uncle's brother-in-law, he simply depends absolutely on me for cigarettes and things. And besides, I have certain physical disabilities."

"Such as which?" asked the sergeant.

"Well, for instance, I can't possibly drink the straight, strong coffee without experiencing quite a severe headache, and sudden frights quite unnerve me. Oh, dear, yes."

"We'll look into your case," said the sergeant, and Mercury Flinn withdrew. Outside on the pavement a little American band was playing The Star Spangled Banner. Suddenly Mercury Flinn's eyes blazed with righteous indignation. Striding up to one of the bystanders, a little Pole with a vacant expression and outstanding ears, he smote him heavily on the jaw and exclaimed, "Say, you! What do you mean by playing here with your hat on while The Star Spangled Banner is being played?"

Then, with an intensely patriotic expression, he walked on.

MYERS THEATRE.

Coming to town soon is the big show of the year, "Robinson Crusoe, Jr." with Al Jolson as the star. Fortunately, the Winter Garden management has retained the original New York cast, including Lawrence D'Orysay, Robert Ryley, Harry Kealey, Rogers, Crocker and Walters, Frank Grace, Johnnie Berkes, Kitty Doner, Mabel Withee, Frank Holmes, Lee Phelps, Alexander Dagmar, Clint Russell, George Thornton, Trixie Raymond and others, not forgetting the far-famed beauty brigade, on the road, and is expected to delight a capacity audience at the Myers theatre, Sunday, September 30th.

That which is termed rice paper is made from the pith of a tree grown in Formosa, not from part of the rice plant, as many suppose.

"NAP" LAJOIE LANDS PENNANT FOR TEAM

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Sept. 26.—After twenty-four years of brilliant playing—star of ages at his position, Napoleon Lajoie finally has landed with a pennant winner. And he put it over himself. Lajoie celebrated his first year as a minor league manager by winning the International League pennant for Toronto in one of the toughest seasons the old league ever had known. The going was so tough the battle was not settled until two days before the season closed. Three clubs were in the fight right to the finish and they all finished with an average better than .300.

It is told wherever the baseball language is spoken that Lajoie came into the baseball business quite by accident, and it is declared wherever baseball is known that Lajoie embodied the superlative of grace in holding and hitting skill. It is declared the master second baseman was a catcher in whom some one found out that he could bust baseballs with a bat, and put him to work. As a second baseman with the old Cleveland Indians, Lajoie was one of the players turned over to Cleveland when the American and National Leagues severed their differences. He was a tremendous hitter for years and built up a playing record as a big league that makes most others fade into nothingness. He ended his American league career with Philadelphia, but was in harness only part of the time.

Lajoie was a big league manager at one stage of his career when he took charge of the Cleveland club and made a failure of it. There are rumors now that he is due for a return to the big show as manager. His success in piloting the Toronto club to championship in the face of such odds as he was called on to face has given him wide publicity as a strategist. Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the Yankees, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates are both said to be after his services.

Rumors that are connecting Toronto with an American league club might take upon future shape with Lajoie at the helm of such a club, but the plan is to move the Washington club, which would entail immediate transfer of Clark Griffith as manager for the club Fox owns a big share of the Senators' stock. He hardly would consent to sell it.

HARD SCHEDULE FOR BADGERS THIS FALL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 26.—The University of Wisconsin football eleven, although expected to be stronger than any eleven in the last three years, will be without the services of several members of last year's team. VARSITY CENTER TO BE A FARMER IN NORWAY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 26.—George Gunderson, center on the Wisconsin football eleven for the past two years, left his home here to go to Norway, where he will run a large farm owned by his father, Dr. Adolf Gunderson. He was obliged to obtain special permission from the government to leave the country. If drafted, he will join an American army in Europe.

OWEN FRANK ASSISTANT AT NEBRASKA UNIVERSITY

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 26.—Owen Frank, who was the star halfback of the University of Nebraska football eleven in 1909-10-11, has been appointed assistant to Coach Stewart of the Cornhuskers' squad. Nineteen men reported for practice at the opening of school, but the squad is expected to increase.

SYRACUSE STAR TO COACH HASKELL INDIAN ELEVEN

Lawrence, Kans., Sept. 26.—Antonio Lubo, former Carlisle and Syracuse University football star, will coach the Haskell Indians this season. Lubo was placed upon Walter Camp's second All-American eleven in 1906 in the line. Gus Welch, another Carlisle football man, also was originally slated for the Haskell position, is in the officers' training camp. Lubo is a member of the Mission tribe of California.

MORRIS MILLER

"Spider" Baum, veteran Coast league pitcher, who has spent all of his career in that circuit, recalled an instance of the days when the league had only one umpire. This was short by after Baum broke into the circuit. He was pitching for Los Angeles. Baum had a peculiar move to first base off first. While the opposing managers and batsmen, as well as the runners kicked on it, the umpires couldn't discover anything wrong with it, and Baum kept pulling it.

Baum had been pitching quite a number of the games in which Ed Finney umpired, and the indicator holder saw man after man nipped about an endless amount of kicking about the elongated pitcher's constant balk motion. "One day I went in to work," said Baum, "and found that Finney, instead of standing back of me where he could watch the balls and strikes, would veer off toward first, when a runner was occupying the sack. Finally I asked him why he didn't stand behind me where he could see the balls and strikes and what do you suppose he said? 'Never mind about the balls and strikes; I can guess at them. You go on and pitch, what I'm watching is where he balks around. And Finney continued to watch in that manner for the rest of the game.'

Lee Magee is another reason why the Yankees are where they are and why in some quarters there is a cry that the Donovan regime has not been a success. After the work Lee did in the National league in the Federal League, it was supposed that he would be a lower of strength to the Yankees, but he was just the opposite and he had little to do with the success of the New Yorkers in 1916. Donovan, though, had to keep on trying him right along on the strength of his past reputation and in the hope that he would come through, which he never did. Every manager buying at all of the same kind would do the same as Wild Bill—continue the pastime knowing that he ought to come through. Magee was absolutely worthless to the Yankees both this year and last. He could have been of use to them in 1916 had he been as nervy as some other outfielders we know of—notably Tris Speaker, who insists on pastime as long as he has a couple of legs to stand on. Lee Magee had a leg he thought he could stand on in 1916 and took a vacation just at the wrong time.

Pittsburgh fans are proposing a "Carey day" to show their appreciation of the Pirates' fleet outfielder, who has played his best brand of ball this season, despite the failure of the team as a whole. The fans also might have a "Cooper day," a "Ward day," and celebrations for a few other good players on the team who have done their best under discouraging conditions.

A hint of conditions in minor leagues is given in this comment by Grand Rapids baseball writer: "Grand Rapids has won another baseball pennant. In the halcyon days of the good old national game that would have been a tremendous event in the life of the community. Now with war, automobiles, and amateur sports distracting the attention of the population is causes only a mild ripple. But so far as credit to the club is concerned the winning of the pennant is deserving just as much commendation as in the times when pennant grabbers were local idols. The Grand Rapids club has put up a plucky, determined, worthy battle in the face of a whole lot of discouragements, including a series of injuries to members of the team and lukewarm interest on the part of a large share of the public. It has come through a winner and it is entitled to a winner's measure of honor."

The only triple play of the Texas league season was made on next to the last day by Waco against Dallas, but the game was won by Dallas. It came in the first inning. Ens was on second and Callahan on first. Mat took him a hot liner to Davis in the pitcher's box. He threw to Tanner and caught Ens off second and Tanner relayed to Leslie, who tagged Callahan before he could get back.
